

Displaced ITT Students have Options in Indiana

Five Indiana institutions of higher education are actively working to assist the more than 1,000 Hoosiers affected by the closure of ITT Technical Institute.

Ivy Tech Community College

- Ivy Tech Community College will host a series of events around the state in partnership with other Indiana institutions to work directly with displaced ITT students to help them find the best fit for continuing their education.
- While Ivy Tech does not accept ITT credits, there are still opportunities for students to continue to their educational journey at the Community College.
  - For example, Ivy Tech has a variety of prior learning assessment opportunities for students to receive credit for certifications they've earned or work experience.
- The Community College is waiving some course test-out fees for ITT Tech students.
- Students who previously attended Ivy Tech and have balances due with the Community College may have options to clear their balances (up to a certain level) to help students get reenrolled at Ivy Tech.
- Students can learn more by visiting www.ivytech.edu/itt, calling 844-897-0540 or emailing helpivy@ivytech.edu.

WGU Indiana

- WGU Indiana will use its competency-based model to help displaced ITT students complete their degrees.
- To ease the financial burden of the transition, WGU Indiana is waiving the university's $65 application fee and first-term resource fee of $145.
- Students can learn more about their opportunities at WGU Indiana, including a special scholarship program for ITT Tech students, by calling 887-214-7014 (Mo Latu, Ext# 5838 Kris Jackson, Ext# 6476) or visiting indiana.wgu.edu/itt.

Indiana Wesleyan University

- Indiana Wesleyan University will accept many ITT credits. In fact, 500 ITT courses have been evaluated as eligible for credit transfer to IWU, and IWU will evaluate students at no cost to determine credit transfer for other ITT courses.
- IWU will transfer up to 90 credits into its non-residential programs only.
- IWU will provide a 10 percent tuition scholarship to any ITT transfer student for most non-residential programs.
- Students can learn more by contacting Deanna Bowman, Assistant Director of Transfer and Corporate Relations, at 1-866-498-4968 or deana.bowman@ind.edu.
- Visit Indiana Wesleyan University online at indwes.edu/ITT.

Harrison College

- Harrison College will evaluate each ITT student transcript separately to determine which credits may be eligible for transfer.
- Harrison's Information Technology, Business, Nursing and Criminal Justice programs are aligned and may be best suited to help ITT students continue their higher education.
- Students can stop in to any campus or call 888-544-4422 for more information on Harrison College's program offerings. Visit online at and find campus locations at Harrison.edu.

Oakland City University

- ITT students can transfer their credits to Oakland City University.
- OCU will work to streamline and expedite the transfer process to help students complete their academic goals as quickly as possible.
- OCU has Business, Criminal Justice and Accounting programs that are well aligned to ITT's programs.
- Students can contact Dr. Cathy Robb (School of Business Dean) at crobb@oak.edu or Linda Tipton at ltipton@oak.edu. Visit www.oak.edu to learn more.
